KILLED BENEATH SHELTERING TREE

Roy Stroup, Sixteen Year Old Son of Mr. and Mrs. George Stroup, Instantly Killed when Lightning Strikes Tree.

Roy Stroup, the oldest son of Mr. and Mrs. George Stroup, who live at the corner of Middle and Stratton streets was struck and instantly killed by lightning during the storm which passed over this section Tuesday afternoon. The boy met his death while standing under a tree on East Confederate avenue. The tree was struck and the bolt ran down to the boy who was thrown forward on his face.

Earlier in the afternoon young Stroup and two other companions had planned to go swimming in Rock Creek and the unfortunate youth was on his way out the avenue to meet his friends when the storm came. He stopped under the big tree at what is known as the "second bridge" to get some shelter from the heavy rainfall. Suddenly there was a brilliant flash of lightning and a deafening peal of thunder. The boy, instantly killed, was thrown forward on his face.

Two hours later the body was found in this position by an automobile party. The youth had one hand in his pocket and one in his shirt over his chest and had evidently fallen in the same position in which he had stood under the tree.

The body was scarcely disfigured at all. The hair was slightly singed and there were a few marks on the back but no place was the skin broken. The nose was slightly bruised by the fall but otherwise there was no disfigurement.

A number of people gathered at the scene shortly after the body was discovered by the autoists and Edward Swope, who was among them, summoned Dr. Henry Stewart who pronounced death due to electricity. The body was then removed to the home of his parents.

The grief of the family when notified of the boy's death was most pitiable. Mrs. Stroup is inconsolable and the sorrow of a younger brother is especially pathetic. The two boys were almost inseparable and when the younger, who was in camp in the evening, heard of the other's death his anguish was terrible.

The boy was a bright and attractive fellow and was well known all over town where he had many friends.

Roy Stroup was sixteen years of age and is survived by his parents, one sister, Irene, and one brother, Earl. The father has charge of the government pumping station along the York pike.

Funeral at 4 p. m. Thursday from the house with interment in Evergreen Cemetery. Rev. Joseph B. Baker officiating.

SHARP SHOOTER SHOT THERE

At the time of the Battle of Gettysburg a sharpshooter was strapped to the tree which was struck Tuesday and killed by the enemy.

BUSY TOWN TO GROW

There is almost a certainty that the town of New Baltimore on the top of the mountain, some distance beyond the White Pine sanatorium, is to become a busy little community.

There are 900 patients in the sanatorium now and in the course of a few years this number is to be increased to 5000. There will be required a large staff of the institution with such a population and it is believed many of them will choose New Baltimore for a home, because of its conveniences.

SELLS AUTO

Waynesboro Herald:—Butcher A. W. Crouse sold his Stanley steamer to Harry Myers, New Oxford. The steamer is not in running order and it was necessary for Mr. Myers to tow it to New Oxford with the Ford touring car in which he came to town. Mr. Myers was accompanied by Charles Hersh, a one armed man, who steered the steamer back for him. Mr. Myers is an expert machinist and expects to make the steamer run as soon as he gets home.

MR. HAUGH FOUND

Mr Samuel Haugh whose disappearance was noted in these columns yesterday was found this morning on the Baltimore pike near McAllister's mill. He was taken to his home on East Middle street.

TALL TIMOTHY

Isiah Rice, of Bendersville, brought to this office a timothy stalk measuring 70 1/2 inches.

AT the clearance sale all our worsted dress skirts, black, navy, brown &c., at 1-4 off the regular price. G. W. Weaver and Son.

BUNCH of 5 keys lost Tuesday. Return to Times office.

BARN BURNED DURING STORM

Barn on Old Major Bell Farm Struck by Lightning and Totally Destroyed together with Large Quantity of Crops and Implements.

Lightning struck the barn of G. R. Thompson in Straban township, near Granite Station, on Tuesday afternoon causing a fire which resulted in the complete destruction of the building, a large quantity of crops and some implements.

The farm is tenanted by Charles Redding and four or five years ago witnessed the destruction by lightning of the barn which then stood where the one burned on Tuesday was located. The farm is known as the "Old Major Bell Farm." The barn burned was a rebuilt structure, having been moved to the farm from near Biglerville some time ago.

All of the stock was saved when the building was struck as Mr. Redding and others about the place had time to get what animals were in the barn to a place of safety. A new binder was burned together with all of the gears.

About four hundred bushels of this year's wheat was destroyed together with practically the entire hay crop, only one load remaining in the fields to be hauled in.

Mr. Thompson carried insurance of $1000 and Mr. Redding had all of his crops insured.

SOLDIERS STUNNED

During the heavy electrical and rain storm which passed over this section on Tuesday afternoon several soldiers were stunned in camp when a bolt of lightning struck in the hospital woods.

A number of the men were at work there while the storm was going on and when there was a blinding flash of lightning and terrific thunder several fell to the ground but were able to recover themselves shortly after. A newspaper man by the name of Riley was one of those affected.

The lightning made a brilliant display at camp and there was much fear lest the experience of two years ago might be repeated. Many of the soldiers were drenched before they got back to camp from maneuver work but no more serious damage was done.

HOUSE STRUCK

The house of James Sherman, near Two Taverns, was struck during Tuesday afternoon's electrical storm and the roof was somewhat damaged. Other harm was done but no serious consequences resulted.

STORM REPORT

White Run, July 13.—The heavy rain and wind storm that passed over this section of the county Tuesday afternoon did a great amount of damage along the Baltimore pike, south of Gettysburg. At many places large limbs were blown off of the trees. A large walnut tree and a smoke house were blown down near Reuben Schwartz. Corn and oats were blown flat to the ground. Some places the corn was terribly cut up. A peculiar feature of the storm was that hail stones as large as an inch in diameter fell in a path several hundred yards wide while at other places no hail fell.

Although the farmers needed rain it came at a wrong time of the day for them. Many had several loads of hay heaped and nearly all of them just getting their first load in when it started to rain. Now they have extra work in spreading it and when it is dry raking it together again.

STOVER--HEMLER

Grover C. Stover, son of the late Jacob A. Stover, of Gettysburg, and Miss Estelle E. Hemler, youngest daughter of Mrs. Mary Hemler, of Hanover, were married at 4.30 a. m., Tuesday in the rectory of St. Vincent's Catholic church, Hanover, by Rev. Father Edward J. McCleary. Miss Rose Hemler, a sister of the bride, was bridesmaid and Herbert Hahn was best man.

Following the ceremony a wedding breakfast was served at the home of the bride, after which the young couple left over the Northern Central Rail way on a wedding trip to Baltimore, Washington and New York.

A GERMAN DUDE

Hanover Record-Herald:—An Abbotstown citizen says "girls can do some things." You bet they can. Last night we saw a girl work a Hanover dude for three ice cream sodas and a fifty cent box of chocolates. Oh, yes girls can do some things—and do them plenty.

AT the clearance sale any amount of goods in the ready-to-wear department will be sold at less than regular price. This stock must be reduced very much before August 1st. Prices made accordingly. G. W. Weaver and son.

GOVERNOR STUART VISITS BIG CAMP

Pennsylvania's Chief Executive Spends Day in Camp of Instruction with Troops of this State. Escorted to Camp.

Governor Edwin S. Stuart arrived in Gettysburg at eleven o'clock this morning for a brief visit to the Camp of Instruction east of town. He was accompanied by Adjutant General Thomas J. Stewart.

The party was met at the train by Brigadier General W. W. Wotterhouse and his chief of staff, Major Eben Swift, from Division Headquarters, and Brigadier General C. Row Dougherty and Major J. M. Vandling, quarter master from the Third Brigade headquarters. The entire party went to camp in Major Vandling's large automobile.

Upon arrival at camp Governor Stuart paid a personal call upon General Wotterhouse, the arrival of Pennsylvania's chief executive being announced by a salute of seventeen guns fired by Battery B, of Pittsburgh.

Later in the day Governor Stuart was the guest of General Dougherty at his headquarters and then went through the camps of the Pennsylvania troops. The visit was entirely of an unofficial nature and other than the salute there was no ceremony attending his visit.

The present camp is notable for the number of distinguished visitors. Governor Mann, of Virginia, was the first state executive to inspect the troops, Governor Fort, of New Jersey was here on Tuesday for the same purpose and Governor Stuart completes the trio who have shown sufficient interest in the military affairs of their states to come here to visit their troops under canvas.

CHURCH REUNIONS

The twenty first annual Reformed church reunion at Pen Mar Park Thursday, July 14, will mark the opening of the series of denominational rallies planned to be held at that resort this summer. The reunion of the Lutherans will follow July 21, while the Presbyterians will gather July 28.

The service which will be held in the auditorium at 1.30 o'clock in the afternoon will include: a prelude by the Braddock Heights band; invocation by the Rev. L. N. Peightel, D.D., Greencastle, Pa., responsive reading by the assembly prayer by the Rev. George A. Snyder, D.D., Middletown, Md.; solo, "Lead Kindly Light," by Miss Elinor Markey, Frederick, Md.; address, "The Influence of the Women of the Reformed Church in the Reformation Era," the Lord's Prayer and doxology by the assembly; the benediction by the Rev. J. A. Hoffelns, D.D., Martinsburg, West Virginia. From 2.45 to 3.45 p. m. there will be a concert by the Braddock Heights band of Frederick, Md., Irving S. Biser, conductor. The all college hour, which is always an important feature of the reunion, will begin at 3.45 o'clock in the afternoon, with the Rev. Clayton H. Ranch, leader.

LUTHERANS EXPECT THRONES

The twenty fourth annual reunion of the Lutherans of Southern Pennsylvania, Maryland, District of Columbia, Virginia and West Virginia at Pen Mar, Thursday, July 21, will be in charge of the Rev. Dr. G. W. Enders, York. A record number of visitors is expected at the park at this time. The Bee Hive chorus choir and orchestra will render special music and Miss Myra Brough, of St. Mark's church, Hanover, will sing two solos. There will be three addresses as follows: "Our Great Lutheran Harvest Fields," the Rev. A. B. Van Orner, Ph.D., Shippensburg; "A Bugle Call to Young Lutherans," the Rev. Dr. L. C. Douglass, Memorial Lutheran church, Washington; "Our Lutheran Laymen's Movement," the Rev. Dr. A. R. Steck, of York. The all college hour will follow the regular exercises.

PRESBYTERIAN PLANS

The principal address at the Presbyterian reunion, at Pen Mar, July 28, will be made by the Rev. A. W. Halsey, secretary of the Pennsylvania Board of Foreign Missions, New York City. "Foreign Missions After a Century" will be his subject. Effort will be made to have representatives from all the missionary organizations in the church present. Music will be provided by the Aeolian quartette, of Harrisburg and the Pen Mar orchestra.

ROCK CREEK UNDESIRABLE

The attention of the public is called to the undesirability of Rock Creek as a bathing and swimming place. The low rate of flow at this time of the year allows the sewage of the town to accumulate to a dangerous extent.

By order of the Board of Health. TRY our mother's bread. H. D. Drawbaugh, Biglerville, Pa.

BRIEF NOTES OF TOWN HAPPENINGS

What is Transpiring in Town. Manuever Camp Soldiers and Others Make Much Business. Short Paragraphs of News.

That thunder storm of Tuesday afternoon did all the damage one cares to see. In practically every part of the county which it visited more or less severe damage was done.

Tuesday afternoon's rainfall was again welcomed by farmers and truckers who want plenty of rain to help along their crops.

The arrival of a governor in Gettysburg causes little comment these days. Governor Stuart's arrival was as unostentatious as could well be arranged, that being the executive's expressed desire.

The interest in the Sunday School base ball league continues though there are a number of postponed games which will have to be played after the close of the season.

The soldiers at camp have discovered that the shortest route to town is along the Western Maryland tracks though passage over the Rock Creek trestle had been made somewhat difficult since so many engines stop at the new water tank recently erected there.

Watermelons find ready sale at local stores. They are gradually coming down in price which had been exceptionally high upon the arrival of the first few lots.

Local liverymen say that they believe the manuever camp is keeping away a large amount of tourist trade which would otherwise come to Gettysburg. They claim that the rumor is in circulation through the state that the town is crowded with visitors and that hotel accommodations are difficult to obtain. Such, of course, is not the case.

Born to Mr. and Mrs. J. Frank Stallsmith, of East Middle street, a son.

Harry J. Kuffensperger, wife and daughter, Mildred, and Miss Ella Ward, of New York City, are spending several weeks at the home of Mr. Kuffensperger's parents, on East Middle street.

Sister Mary Barbeheim, of the German hospital, Philadelphia, is spending some time at the home of her parents, Mr. and Mrs. Henry P. Barbeheim, on Stratton street.

PARIS GREEN ON CABBAGE

A Shippensburg man who has been using Paris green to kill the worms that have appeared on the heads of cabbage in his garden, wrote to Prof. H. A. Surface, state zoologist, asking whether the poison will render the cabbage unfit for use. The professor answered the letter as follows:

"It will not render cabbage unfit for use, to apply Paris green to it. You can use one half pound of Paris green in fifty gallons of water sprayed on cabbage, and it will kill the worms and not injure the cabbage for food. Apply some soap with it to make it stick. Also, you can use two pounds of arsenate of lead in place of the Paris green. This will stick better and I much prefer it.

"I have heard that from one half ounce to one ounce of alum, dissolved in each gallon of water, will destroy the cabbage worm. I have not had opportunity to try it in my experimental work, but hope to do so soon. I would recommend that you try it and report to me results. I can assure you that practically all truck growers now use arsenical poison on cabbage and are satisfied with the results, as it kills the worms, although, of course, it does not kill plant lice, and it is not recommended for this. For aphids or plant lice, I recommend one pound of whale oil soap in five gallons of water.

"Cabbage heads grow from within outward; thus they are constantly throwing out or spreading the leaves to which the poison has been applied. If it headed by throwing the outer leaves inward, there would be greater danger of poisoning."

MRS. WILLIAM FLOHR

Mrs. Julia Ann Flohr, wife of William Flohr, Throntmont, Md., died Saturday evening at her home, aged 70 years.

Death came to her after an illness of nearly a month.

The deceased is survived by her husband and ten children.

ONE CENT STAMP DEMAND

The rush for one cent postage stamps at town and camp post offices continues. Several days ago six thousand had been sold at the camp post office before ten o'clock in the morning.

AT the clearance sale our entire stock of cotton and linen coats suits will be sold at 1-4 off the regular price. Just the thing for travel. G. W. Weaver and Son.

GIRL VICTIM OF 3D DEGREE METHODS

Tortured by Police to Make Her Confess Thefts.

Wilkes-Barre, Pa., July 13.—Sixteen-year-old Annie Slakus, a physical and mental wreck, accused the police of vicious third degree methods in trying to make her confess to a number of thefts. She says she was called vile names in her cell by some of the policemen and detectives, that they threatened her if she did not admit the robberies, and that the detectives visited her cell in relays to question her, abused her, called her names, and that she was dragged about by her bare arms from room to room. She admits committing several thefts, but says she confessed to more in order to escape the third degree treatment.

TROUBLE FOR STAKEHOLDER

"Big Tim" Sullivan May Be Indicted For Holding Stakes For Fight.
New York, July 13.—Charles C. Nott, the assistant district attorney, who is acting prosecutor of New York county in Mr. Whitman's absence, has decided to attempt proceedings against State Senator Timothy D. Sullivan for holding the stakes in connection with the recent prize fight at Reno, Nev.
While the money was supposed to have been collected in Hoboken, N. J., Mr. Nott has been informed that the actual depositing of cash took place here.
It was announced unofficially Mr. Nott would call the matter to the attention of the grand jury.

Lightning Kills Two Students.

Cripple Creek, Colo., July 13.—Two University of Illinois students, Robert Chambers, Oklahoma City, and Jesse Treakee, Peoria, Ill., were killed by lightning on the summit of Mount Pisgah. Their bodies were found under a big pine tree that had been shattered by the bolt.

Colt Kills Farmer.

Princeton, Md., July 13.—Horace Palmer, a young farmer near this town, was killed to death by a young colt. Several years ago Mr. Palmer's brother met a similar death on the same farm.

The Boy's Business.

"We were waiting for the elevator to come down," said a commercial traveler, "after discussing the probability of an aeroplane's crossing the Atlantic within a year, when just as the party was about to ascend, one of the boys said, 'I'll bet $10,000 that it won't be done,' and the elevator boy looked up. —Everybody's Magazine.

AUGUST HERRMANN.

Base Ball Magnate Elected
Head of the Elks.

HERRMANN HEADS ELKS

Cincinnati Base Ball Magnate Chosen Grand Exalted Ruler.

Detroit, Mich., July 13. — August ("Garry") Herrmann, of Cincinnati, was elected grand exalted ruler of the Benevolent and Protective Order of Elks by acclamation at the first session of the grand lodge, held here.
Mr. Herrmann is president of the Cincinnati base ball club of the National league and is chairman of the National Base Ball commission. He is known to base ball enthusiasts all over the country, and was the leading spirit in bringing about peace between the National and American leagues some years ago. His warm friendship for Ban Johnson, then head of the American league, enabled him to accomplish this end.

Other officers elected by acclamation were: Edward Leach, New York city, grand treasurer, and P. H. Shields, of Plattsburgh, N. Y., grand tier.
Atlantic City was chosen for the next convention.

LUMBER TOWN SWEPT BY $3,000,000 FIRE

1000 Buildings Burned and 5000 People Homeless.

Bathurst, N. B., July 13.—The fire which destroyed the town of Campbellton, on the Inter-Colonial railway, the largest cedar shingle center in eastern America, burned 1000 buildings, made about 5000 persons homeless, and caused a financial loss of nearly $3,000,000.

Of the entire town only seven of the houses are standing. These were located on the outskirts. There seems to have been no loss of life.

Telephone and telephone wires between Bathurst and Campbellton are down, and all information received here was brought by train.

Practically all of the mills there were destroyed, including the big plant of the Shives Lumber company, Richard's Lumber company and the Moffatt mills. The property of these three concerns, in which American capital was interested, was valued at $1,000,000.

HEAT MAKES MAN INSANE

Crawling in Street Praying, Bread in One Hand and Rose in the Other.

Passaic, N. J., July 13.—His head turned by the excessive heat, Frank Vilna, of Garfield, was found in the streets here, crawling on his knees, praying, with a crust of bread in one hand and a rose in the other.

He had to be lifted, still in a kneeling position, into an ambulance, and remained in that position until he was admitted to the general hospital. Physicians worked over the man diligently and have succeeded in partially relieving him of his strange mania for prayer. They hope to entirely cure him.

COAL MINE ON FIRE

Oxygen and Ammonia Used to Revive Men Overcome at Work.

Hazleton, Pa., July 13.—Fire was discovered in one of the slopes of the Harwood Coal company, at Harwood, near here. All of the available men at the operation are fighting the flames.
A call was sent to this city for oxygen and ammonia to be used in reviving any who may be overcome. The cause of the fire has not yet been learned.

Says He'll Drown Himself.

Plainfield, N. J., July 13.—William Day, station agent for the Lehigh Valley Railroad company at Oaktree and Potters crossing, left home on Monday to visit a dentist. He has not been seen since. Thomas Brantingham, a friend, received a letter from Day. Day wrote that he was going to Coney Island, where his body would be found, as he intended to drown himself. The company has found nothing wrong in his accounts, and his wife and friends are puzzled over his actions.

ENGLISH FLIER KILLED IN FALL

C. S. Rolls, Hero of Double Trip
Across Channel, Loses Life.

MACHINE BUCKLES IN AIR

Daring Aviator Fell 100 Feet When Tailpiece Broke and Was Dashed to Death in Presence of Big Crowd.

Bournemouth, Eng., July 13.—Hon. Charles Stewart Rolls, third son of Lord Llangatock, and noted for his recent double flight across the English channel, was killed here at the aviation meet, in which Armstrong Drexel so distinguished himself several days ago.

The tragedy occurred in the presence of a great company of spectators, a majority of whom were women and children, and many of the personal friends of the young aviator. The Wright biplane on which he was flying fell suddenly with terrific speed from a height of 100 feet. It struck the ground close to the crowded grand stand, smashed into a tangled mass, and before the doctors and their assistants could reach the spot Rolls was dead.

The event in which Rolls was competing was for a prize for the aviator alighting nearest a given mark. The goal was directly in front of the grand stand, where the spectators were massed. He had risen to a good height and then shut off his motor and was gliding in a broad circle toward the mark.

Without warning the tail piece of the biplane snapped off. The machine gave a sudden lurch, and the framework crumpled up in the air. When it struck the ground it was smashed to splinters. The doctors found that Rolls had sustained a fractured skull. The wreck of the machine and twisted stays surrounded the body so that there was difficulty in extricating the unfortunate man.

Lord and Lady Llangatock, the parents of Rolls, narrowly escaped witnessing the catastrophe. They were yachting along the coast, and put in at Poole, near Bournemouth, intending to attend the aviation meeting, but postponed going until after noon.

Andemars, the Swiss aviator, had a close shave while making a trial flight. His monoplane overturned and descended swiftly to the ground, but he escaped without injury.

Captain Rolls had expected to come to the United States this fall to give exhibitions of flying and to compete in many meetings that might be held. After his flight of the English channel he received telegrams of congratulation from King George and Queen Mary, and was given the gold medal of the Royal Aero club, and altogether was one of the most conspicuous figures in England.

COMMERCE $3,302,821,057

Vast Amount of Trade Done With Foreign Countries.

Washington, July 13.—The total value of the foreign commerce of the United States during the fiscal year 1910, which ended on June 30, was $3,302,821,057. This is according to completed returns made public by the bureau of statistics of the department of commerce and labor.

The total imports were valued at $1,557,854,854, exceeding those of 1907, the previous high record year, by more than $123,000,000. The total exports were exceeded only by the years 1907 and 1908, and were valued at $1,744,866,203, falling $136,000,000 behind 1907, and $116,000,000 below 1908. They exceeded 1909, however, by $82,000,000.

Mule Kicks Boy to Death.

Pine Grove, Pa., July 13.—Alonso Shollenberger, of Joliet, aged nineteen years, employed as a driver at the Lincoln colliery, was kicked in the region of the heart and neck by a vicious mule. He died instantly. The colliery was stopped for the balance of the day.

Boy Killed by Lightning.

Gettysburg, Pa., July 13.—In a severe electrical storm which passed over this section, Roy Stroup, a young Gettysburg boy, who had taken refuge under a tree, was instantly killed when a bolt of lightning struck in the tree's branches.

Boston Hotel Comforts.

"I have put up at many a hotel in New York," said a dyed in the wool Bostonian, "but nowhere have I found the concrete comforts you may have at any of the better class hostels in Boston. For example, there you will find in every room a Bible and a clothes stretcher."

Drop a cake of Ivory Soap in bath tub or washbowl—do you have to grope for it?
No!
Up, up it comes to the surface of the water.
That is one of Ivory's advantages over other bath and toilet soaps—it floats.
Other advantages are: It is pure; it lathers freely; it contains no "free" alkali; it leaves the skin as smooth as satin.

Marquessette Tunic.

A simple and pretty garment is this Marquessette tunic, hemmed all around with satin. It is designed (with the aid of a dainty long sleeved under-blouse to transform an ordinary skirt into a rig suitable for ordinary dinners and the like.

Narrow Dutch Collars.

Narrow Dutch collars have caught the feminine fancy and are shown in the cutest combinations of line or batiste and embroidery or lace. Mere frills on a tiny band are very smart. Some of these are touched with color or edged with butter colored lace, the latter being a fad at present in Paris. From two to five inches is the correct width of these flat neck dressings. Fichus did fair to be very popular, and very dainty and softening to the face are the new fichu collars. The vandyke shaped collar is quaint and charming to see on women of certain demure types. A braid of black satin has taken its place around the top of many of the plaited or killed collars. So chic is the effect that one does not appreciate at once its double purpose of lengthening the usefulness of those hard to launder frills.

Novelties in rabbits, jabots and tiny collar bows are shown in odd shapes by the score, with many bits of Persian colorings to brighten them up.

First Aid For Ivy Poisoning.

The remedies prescribed for poison ivy are various, but are of such a nature that their use without the advice of a physician is risky. If one realizes at the time that he has come into contact with poison ivy he should rub the hands at once with fresh, moist, fine soil, and this may remove the irritating oil before it becomes absorbed, but the work must be done very quickly. If the first sign of the disease is the itching which heralds the coming of the pustules, a physician should be consulted at once, but if none be at hand get from a druggist a weak solution of "lead water" and apply it with absorbent cotton, but get a doctor as quickly as possible. —Designer.

Cost of Celebrating.

Colonel H. N. Renouf at the old guard banquet at Delmonico's, in New York, told an instructive story about summer vacations.

"I said to a man the other day," he began, "Well, are you going to send your wife to the seashore again this summer?"

"No, sir; I'm not," said he. "I can't afford it."
"But your wife's so economical," I objected. "You told me that she spent very little at the shore last year."
"Yes, I know," said he, "but home alone I spent over a hundred a week!" —Washington Post.

Naming the Hotel Clerk.

One hotel extends an unusual courtesy—if it be a courtesy—to its guests. Over the desk where most of the business of the hotel is done hangs a sign which says, "The clerk now on duty is Mr. Smith." or Mr. Jones, as the case may be. Whether the sign is intended to save the feelings of guests or clerks isn't quite plain. It saves the clerks from being addressed as "Hey, you," and the guests from having to say, "Oh, Mr. Eh-h-h." —New York Sun.

THE PENDANT FAD OF THE MOMENT.

An Expensive Bauble It May Be or the Reverse.

The pendant is the jewel of the moment nearest a woman's heart, literally and figuratively. Little wonder when she knows what a pretty touch it adds to her frock.

A very expensive bauble it may be, too, when set with dozens of superb diamonds and a huge pearl in the center—a brilliant wealth of many spokes. One of particularly exquisite workmanship is composed entirely of sapphires set in shapes of tiny fans whose handles touch an outside circle of those deep blue stones.

A very smart touch when a black frock is worn is an inch wide ribbon—black moire—about the neck and hanging to the waist, suspended from which is nothing more practical, please you, than a pendant of finely cut diamonds. Round the pendants of gold in intricate patterns are less expensive than the jeweled sorts and are high in favor. These are suspended by a slender chain, quite like some "order" are many of the handsomely enameled ones.

The French jewelry counters boast some charming designs in this ultra-fashionable whim or adornment. As low in price as a dollar are plenty of exceedingly wearable pieces, and they will wear as long as the fad. Women are buying as many as a half dozen of these inexpensive pendants, selecting those in which the setting matches their various gowns. Lapis lazuli for her dark blue suit, turquoise matrix for the light blue dress frock, and so on through her wardrobe with the garnet, coral, jade, aquamarine, topaz and others match. Brilliants surround many of the loveliest.

Hence do not mourn, ye feminine lovers of these fancies, for the untasteful diamonds and fashionable pearls—some of the very prettiest bear modest prices.

To Trim Summer Hat.

One who understands the art of building a hat successfully says that a great deal depends upon the thread used for keeping the trimming in place.

By no means will a single kind of thread answer for every kind of trimming. For instance, velvet bows should always be made and sewed on the claims, with linen thread.

A needle with a three sided point is the proper one to use.

When outfit tips are to be sewed on the black thread should be chosen.

After Harmsworth Cup.

According to Commodore H. B. Melville of the Motorboat Club of America, who recently returned from England, where he completed the final arrangements for the coming international motorboat race for the Harmsworth cup, the keenest interest is displayed by the British motorboat owners in the coming race, and many of them are coming over in person to attend it.

Played For One Run.

Griffith, McGraw and Bresnahan are the hit and run managers of the National League, while Chance, Clarke and Lake are depending more on the sacrifice hit. Doolin and Dahlen are "misers." Having poor luck with the hit and run style, Manager Chance switched, resorted to the sacrifice and played for one run. Seven victories resulted.

Big Prizes For Pacific Motor Race.

The Pacific International Motorboat association of Seattle, Wash., is completing arrangements for the first annual motorboat race from Puget sound to Ketchikan, southeastern Alaska, next August, for which prizes valued at $7,000 will be given.

AVIATOR WINS SHAM SEA FIGHT

Curtiss Drops "Bombs" on Target Used as Warship.

BROOKINS STARTLES CROWD

After Dashing Through Surf in Bi-plane, Does Fancy Stunts High in Air That Made Spectators Hold Their Breath.

Atlantic City, July 13.—Crossing the sailing line of the yacht John E. Mehre, 24, used as a target in place of a battleship, Glenn Curtiss, using oranges as "bombs," gave an exhibition of his ability to drop high explosives on the deck of the craft. Fearing harm to the officials and ladies on the yacht, Curtiss placed his missiles so accurately alongside that spray was thrown over the gowns of the women. Then, whirling away, Curtiss took his plane far out to sea and beyond the range of anything but a twelve-inch gun, while the yacht passengers and watchers shuddered at the thought of the possibilities had the bombs been spheres of real explosives and the trim and glistening craft the object of real attack.

"The trial shows absolutely that the day of the battleship for attack on foreign cities is nearing its end," declared Colonel William Allen Jones, U. S. A., retired, formerly of the engineer corps. "Curtiss could have dropped a bomb on the deck of even that small craft with just as much ease and certainty as he showed when he spun them close enough to the vessel to show his ability without endangering the people on board."

"As for hitting that swooping aeroplane from the deck of a battleship, it would be practically impossible except with rifle balls, and both driver and engine could be protected with the lightest sort of armor or bullet proof cloth," concluded the army official.

Following his sham attack on the mock battleship, Curtiss dropped more orange "bombs" at a circular mark on the beach to show the ease with which he could hurl explosives into the camp of soldiers.

After the sham battle Walter Brookins gave another of his thrilling exhibitions of his ability to handle the big Wright machine, by making a series of whirling turns, ending with a daring rush through the surf in which his runners were buried in a monster breaker. The crowd, who thought that the youngster was about to tumble into the ocean, broke out into cheers when he lifted his plane into the air and landed safely on the beach.

There followed such maneuvers and such dangerous stunts as probably never before have marked an aviation meet.

Seems to Turn Completely.

Most spectacular and thrilling of all was the feat that the aviator called the "bank." Apparently he turned completely over with his machine while hundreds of feet above the heads of the spectators.

The daring aviator would take his machine to a good height so that it was plainly visible to all the dense and cheering throng. Then he would point the "prow" of his vessel almost straight upward, while his motor hummed busily.

While in this almost perpendicular position he gave his rudder plane a quick turn and whirled round and round, seeming to turn the machine upside down and clear over.

Then came another stunt, little less wonderful, causing men and women below to catch their breath in astonishment at the daring of the man.

Brookins soared beautifully, then gave his rudder the required twist and went whirling around again, this time using one of his supporting planes as a pivot.

It was for all the world like a dancer whirling on one toe. This feat again brought out a chorus of cheers from the crowds.

A sort of "zig-zag" or "criss-cross" was the next maneuver to cause the crowd to marvel. Brookins took his machine high in the air, then darted down about twenty yards to the right. Quickly reversing, he would dart a similar distance down to the left. In this way, alternately darting to right and left, he descended to within about 200 feet of the crowds.

Brookins was in the air eighteen minutes, showing the wonderful control he had of the machine.

The meet ended formally on Tuesday, the aviators being presented with the prizes won during the meet. Brookins received $5000 for his feat in breaking the world's altitude record, while Curtiss pocketed a similar sum for his establishment of a fifty miles straightaway race record. Twenty-two flights have been made during the ten days of the meet, and the officials are happy over the success of the first affair of its kind in Atlantic City.

Magazine Explodes; 1 Dead, 20 Hurt.

Chief Naval Constructor, Who Has Resigned.

CAPPS' SUCCESSOR

Meyer Has a Man Picked For Naval Constructor.

Washington, July 13.—It was said at the navy department that Secretary of the Navy Meyer had practically selected a naval constructor for appointment as chief constructor of the navy, succeeding Washington Lee Capps, who resigned. Albert W. Stahl, at League Island navy yard, is said to be the man.

Mr. Capps' resignation will not take effect until Oct. 1 next, when he will have completed thirty years' service and will be eligible for retirement from active service with the rank of rear admiral.

WON'T INTERFERE IN NICARAGUA

Germany Says Letter to Madrid Was Mere Courtesy.

Berlin, July 13.—The foreign office has given out an authorized statement respecting a letter of Emperor William to President Madrid, of Nicaragua.

Reports have reached Berlin that attempts were being made in America to construe this letter, published in the American papers, as an endorsement by the emperor of the Madrid faction in the war for control of Nicaragua.

The statement follows: "Madrid gave notice of his election upon undertaking the presidency to the emperor in the usual written form. The customary formal reply was prepared by the foreign office. It was not an autograph letter, but was simply signed by the emperor."

"The address, 'Great and good friend,' was in accordance with official courtesy. Any intervention by Germany in Nicaraguan affairs neither followed nor is intended. Germany neither sought nor designs to seek a coaling station."

"Rumors of Germany's intentions toward the Galapagos islands are equally without foundation, as are all suggestions that the German government has in any wise modified the cultivation of friendly relations toward the United States."

HUGHES TO BE CHIEF JUSTICE

Asserted That President Has Made Up His Mind on Appointment.

New York, July 13.—The World publishes the following dispatch from Beverly, Mass.:

"Charles E. Hughes will be the next chief justice of the United States supreme court."

"Justice Moody will announce his retirement from the supreme court bench before November, when the term of the special law enacted for him expires."

"President Taft has not yet decided whether he will appoint the three new justices this fall and call an extra session of the senate, or wait until the regular session in December. His present inclination is against calling an extra session."

"The president figures that as the Standard Oil, tobacco and corporation tax cases cannot come up until November, little time could be saved by calling one, but he has not decided against it."

"Lloyd W. Bowers, solicitor general of the United States, is one of the most probable appointees. President Taft does not believe that Bowers' participation through the department affects his eligibility."

PINCHOT WILL AID INSURGENT

Will Stump California For Hiram Johnson.

SAW ROOSEVELT FIRST

It is Believed the Colonel Has Indorsed Insurgent's Candidacy For Governor of California—Had Many Callers.

New York, July 13.—Gifford Pinchot, close friend of Colonel Roosevelt, and deposed United States forester, announced that he would leave for California to take the stump in behalf of Hiram Johnson, who is seeking the gubernatorial nomination in California, and is indorsed for that honor by the Lincoln-Roosevelt League of California.

Mr. Pinchot's announcement was made shortly after a conference with Colonel Roosevelt, in which Marshall Stimson, of Los Angeles, also took part. Mr. Pinchot said he would make several speeches in behalf of Mr. Johnson's candidacy, which he indicated was being strongly opposed by the old line Republican organizations of that state.

Neither Mr. Pinchot nor Marshall Stimson would say that Colonel Roosevelt had given his assurances of support to Mr. Johnson's gubernatorial aspirations, but the fact that Mr. Pinchot's announcement came within a few minutes after leaving Colonel Roosevelt's office caused the general belief among politicians that Mr. Roosevelt indorsed Mr. Johnson in his efforts to secure the nomination.

To Support Insurgent.

Marshal Stimson said that Governor Gillett would seek another nomination, and that the old line Republican organizations in California were backing the candidacies for governor of Charles F. Curry and Alden Anderson. He declared that the Lincoln-Roosevelt league was seeking for a more representative party government.

After making his announcement, Mr. Pinchot said:

"I shall make four speeches in California in behalf of William Kent, an insurgent candidate for the nomination for congress. Mr. Kent is opposing Congressman McKinlay, who is a candidate for renomination."

Mr. Pinchot said that he had already made arrangements to make one speech for Mr. Johnson in California, but did not know how many more he might make. He said he would stop at Kansas City and address the Kule and Fork club on "Conservation" on July 15. It was before this club that Speaker Cannon made his attack on the insurgents.

Besides Mr. Pinchot and Marshal Stimson, Colonel Roosevelt, who came to the city from Oyster Bay in his automobile, had several other visitors during the day. The callers included Herbert Knox Smith, commissioner of corporations; Professor L. H. Bailey, of Cornell, chairman of the Roosevelt Country Life commission; Representative W. S. Bennett, of New York, and Charles N. Fowler, of New Jersey.

A delegation from Macon, Ga., composed of E. W. Stetson, W. E. Dunwoody, a cousin of Colonel Roosevelt, and Postmaster Harry Stillwell Edwards, called on Colonel Roosevelt to request him to make a speech at Macon.

TIBURON ISLAND.

Its Waters Are Literally Swarming With Feroocious Sharks.

Less than three thousand miles from the city of New York and about a third of that distance from San Francisco there is situated, in the upper reaches of the gulf of California, a small island, worthless even for so mean a purpose as the raising of goats, but nevertheless a center of attraction for the ethnologists and archaeologists of the old and new worlds for many generations.

This rocky peak, rising from the quiet waters of the gulf, is known as Tiburon island. Tiburon is a Spanish word which, translated into English, means "shark." The waters around the island are literally swarming with these tigers of the sea, and the inhabitants of the island are said to be no less ferocious than the sharks. Tiburon is peopled with a handful of Indians, the only aborigines of their kind in the world, known as Seris. They are reputed to be cannibals, to be so fierce that none of the mainland tribes of Mexican redskins ever dare invade their shores and to possess the secret of manufacture of a peculiarly deadly poison with which they prepare their arrows before battle.—Wide World Magazine.

Girl Attacked by Copperhead Snake.

Huntingdon, Pa., July 13.—A three-foot copperhead snake sprang at Miss Amelia Ergler from the top of a stone wall as she was returning from work and struck at her arm. It fastened its fangs in the sleeve of her dress, its weight pulling the fabric from the flesh and preventing inoculation by the poison. Before the snake could be recovered for another attack it was killed by men attracted by the girl's screams.

July - Clearance - Sale

Our Stock sheet for July 1st, shows us that stock is much too large for good storekeeping. We are determined to greatly decrease it in amount within the next few weeks; so we have Price Marked Lots of Goods in every department, to which the only question was, what Price will sell it?

We have also rummaged in every part of the store for Remnants and Odds and Ends, and the money saving on many of these articles, nearly all useable on the vacation trip, will add very materially towards paying the railroad fare and lengthening the stay.

Much Care Should Be Given to the Class Rooms.

How about the schoolhouse in your town? What sort of class room is provided for your son or daughter to work in five or six hours per day? Do you know whether fresh air is admitted or prohibited in that room? Do you know whether the room is properly cleaned or is it germ laden with sweepings? And, if you don't know, why don't you know?

Why do you watch your child's scholastic progress as shown in weekly or monthly reports from the teacher and neglect to ask what care is given to his body from 9 to 12 and from 1:30 to 3:30 five days each week?

If you heard that little Jimmie Brown, who sits at the desk next to your son, was carrying diphtheria germs from the bedside of his sick father into that class room you would be the first to appear before the city physician or board of health to file a complaint. Well, Jimmie's father has a disease just as infectious—tuberculosis—and Jimmie Brown is carrying into that close, unventilated class room tuberculosis germs in his clothing.

Why don't you do something to prevent such dangerous contact for your boy?

Why don't you demand in your town notification and registration for the father and fumigation and segregation for the son? What right have you as an intelligent father or mother to let your child take such chances?

These are straight-from-the-shoulder questions which you as a parent should consider and answer. They contain the reason for physical examination of school children. This does not work a hardship on the few, and it does save the many.

MAKE YOUR OWN TRADE.

"Talk Quality, Emphasize Worth. Lay Stress on Inherent Goodness."

One of the big hardware houses of the country issues the following:

"Queer thing this reputation. It takes tolling and mulling to get it, takes sluggishness of purpose and capacity to resist temptation to cheapen, but once you've got it its value is transcendent and can't be computed in dollars and cents. How infinitely better it is to build on a foundation of quality and worth than to chase the will-o'-the-wisp of cheapness, which leads you into bogs and swamps!"

"But any trade won't pay the price! walls some timorous soul. Your trade, dear man, is what you make of it. If you insistently talk quarter tea and ten cent brooms and five cent brushes and ninety cent up les and fifteen cent oranges how in the name of common sense do you expect the trade to ask for anything else? Try the other. Talk quality, emphasize worth, lay stress on inherent goodness and watch the result. Cut loose from cheapness, for you are leaning on a broken reed that will give you a bad fall one of these days. Profit and prestige lie in selling good goods. Is any feeling so all satisfying as the consciousness that your name stands for the best of quality?"

How Knob Noster Was Named. J. M. Shepherd of Knob Noster writes concerning the origin of his town's name: "Knob Noster is situated at the foot of two beautiful hills or 'knobs' in the western vernacular. These knobs are green and grass grown to their summits and rise out of a flat prairie from which they can be seen for many miles. When the village was founded in the early fifties a schoolhouse was built and an eastern schoolmaster was employed to teach a pay school. When he arrived at his place of chapel was struck with the beauty of the knob and, being exceedingly proud of his knowledge of Latin, dubbed them 'Knobs Noster,' or 'Our Knobs.' The villagers were struck with the name and named their town after the designation of their Latin loving schoolmaster. The process of time seems to have worn the 'r' from 'Knobs'."—Kansas City Star.

IN THE WORLD OF SPORT

Louis Drucke, Whose Rise to Fame Was Rapid.

Louis Drucke, known in Texas as "the pride of the Brazos," now a successful pitcher for the New York Nationals, was a college student one year ago. In three months he accomplished the step from college baseball to service in the major league, his minor league experience being brief, but long enough for Manager McGraw to recognize the lad's unusual ability.

Drucke graduated from Texas Christian university of Waco in June of last year and immediately joined the Dallas team of the Texas league. Drucke pitched twice a week and lost only two or three games. He was considered the best pitcher in the Texas league despite his lack of experience in professional baseball, and that was an honor, considering the fact that several twirlers from that league were carried by major league scouts last fall.

McGraw closed a deal for the purchase of Drucke last July, or, rather, he then exercised an option and bought the youngster's release for $2,500. But Drucke's experience with McGraw dates back to the spring of 1910, when the Giants made their first trip to Texas for training purposes. The Giants that season won something like thirty-four exhibition games in the Lone Star State. They were beaten only once, and Drucke, then a green college pitcher, turned the trick.

Ty Cobb on Port Siders.

Cobb declares that left handed batters can solve the sharp breaking curve thrown by left handed pitchers—a curve that is too much for most of them—by crowding into the plate, stepping forward on the ball and spearing it before it breaks. This, he says, is a comparatively easy thing with only a little practice. Most left handed batters, Ty says, have grown accustomed to imagining themselves buffeted by the port side pitchers and fall feebly from afar when that curve comes over. By crowding boldly inward they can get busy with the ball and will soon find themselves making all kinds of hits off the delivery that has so long confounded them.

Twin Spirits

By ESTHER VANDEVEER

Copyright, 1910, by American Press Association.

He was a genius—a genius of the brush. When at his easel he was completely absorbed. At such time no one could secure his attention. His lunch was brought in every day and set down beside him; but, although the servant was instructed to call his attention to it, he seldom knew that it was there. Often after he had finished his work for the day he would feel faint for want of food. Then he would arise to get some and frequently knocked over the stool on which his lunch had been placed and broke the dishes.

She was a poetess. She had had a lover; but, finding that she didn't feel those heavenly thrills of which she had written of people in such condition, she had broken off her engagement with him. She had seen the artist's pictures and was sure she loved the man who painted them. She burned to know him and asked every friend she possessed to introduce her. But none of them was acquainted with him.

But her yearning for him would not down. She resolved to visit him in his studio. A friend to whom she had given her confidence advised her to "brush up a bit," leave off her black alpaca and put on silk. But the recommendation did not impress her. Love was a matter of the soul; it had nothing to do with clothes, whereupon her friend admonished her to wear something pretty all the same.

She went to his studio, climbed several flights of stairs—she was delicate, and the effort made her heart throb violently—and tapped softly at the door. There was no response. No sound came from within. She tried the doorknob, turning it gently, then pushed the door slightly ajar. He was there. He sat at his easel before a canvas on which were a divine face and figure. The latch slipped back, making a sound. She started, thinking it would betray her. No; he went on painting. What a noble brow! His tumbled hair—it was thin—caressed the crown of his august head.

What should she do? Should she break the spell under which he worked by speaking? No; there was a chair near by. She would go and sit upon it till he came to himself or from himself. So she went softly to the chair, keeping her eyes upon him the while, and sat down.

Alas, she sat upon a palette—a palette on which were soft paints of many bright colors!

She sat looking at him, yearning for him. Presently he looked aside from his work and straight at her. Through his eyes looked a great spirit. But they did not see her; they were as those of a somnambulist. He turned his gaze back to his easel.

For another half hour he worked. She would no sooner drag him down from his idea flight than she pulled down herself when a poem was welling up in her own heart.

Presently she arose to go. She had seen him. Her soul had caressed his. It was enough.

But unfortunately something fell on the floor.

"Where have you been?" he asked. "I've been waiting for you. I must put in the eyes." Then, without waiting, he went on: "A little closer, please. There, face the light."

At the same time he turned and looked into her eyes. He thought she was his model. But she did not know it. She thought that his lofty intellect had stalked over the gap of a want of acquaintance.

Then he began to paint, putting her own dark, poetic eyes into the head on the canvas, turning often to look into those of flesh and blood. In her poetic imagination she fancied that he was taking, spiritually, her eyes from her body and placing them in the head of an angel.

At last the work was finished. He arose, stood at a short distance from it, viewed it critically, made a few touches, threw down his brush, put his hand in his pocket, fished out a plug of black tobacco and bit off a quid.

As her romance, pierced to the heart, died within her she gave a little cry. He turned and looked at her through eyes from which the light of Genius Creatrix had gone out and saw her as she was, a lean, homely old maid with handsome eyes.

"Who in thunder are you?" he blurted.

Poor woman! Had the romance remained it would have been quite embarrassing enough, but it had vanished with the appearance of the tobacco. What to say she did not know. There was but one thing for her to do—leave the studio. She slunk toward the door. He followed her with his eyes.

"Stop!" he said suddenly, making a few quick strides toward her. Was he going to break even the fragments of the idol she had raised and how? He seized her skirt—that part of it which hung in rear—and, spreading it out, exclaimed:

"Great Scott!"

"What is it?" she asked, not being able to see behind her.

"You've been sitting on my palette!" he said, surveying the wreck of her dress ruefully. The dress was a confusion of vermilion, prussian blue, chrome yellow, violet and other colors.

Then, telling her to wait, he rushed for turpentine and other articles and in a quarter of an hour had got off the most of the paint. As she passed out he said:

"Thank you for the use of your eyes."
